

December 9, 1999

To Whom It May Concern:

Setrak Agonian of International Creative Metal joined the National Ornamental & Miscellaneous Metals Association (NOMMA) in 1989 and has been an active member during most of this decade. A skilled craftsman with a long list of projects and honors, his firm is especially proficient in brass and bronze.

Since getting to know him five years ago, Setrak has provided ideas and advice for several articles appearing in our trade magazine, Fabricator. He has also shown support for NOMMA's New York Chapter and opened his business for a chapter shop tour in 1993.

Last spring, we honored International Creative Metal by making them our "Member Spotlight" for the May/June 1999 issue of our magazine. These "Member Spotlights" profile some of our 900 members who have shown innovation and have made unusually noteworthy contributions in their field.

We are pleased to have Mr. Agonian as a member of the NOMMA family, and reel that he is capable of handling any task that may come before him.

Sincerely,

Todd Daniel
NOMMA Publications
& Communications Manager